We are pleased that, despite the challenges and limitations of Covid-19, we have found a way to deliver this year's festival entirely virtually. We are grateful to the many stars, directors and producers who will join us to make this edition another great event even if we aren't able to come together in person," said Malik Ahmad, Executive Director of the IIFFT.

The eighth edition of the festival will once again be a celebration of Indian film and culture and include online interviews with celebrities from Bollywood (Hindi), Kollywood (Tamil), Tollywood (Telugu), Mollywood (Malayalam), and Sandalwood (Kannada).

The exciting list of diverse films for this year's event, featuring some of the industries brightest stars, includes:
